

MICHELLE ANTLE

Michelle Antle is an experienced strategy consultant, executive advisor, and facilitator with a passion for uncovering actionable insights and forging genuine human connection at both the individual and team levels. Michelle partners with clients to identify the narratives holding them back and to rewrite the script for personal and professional growth. With 15 years' experience in strategy consulting and facilitation, Michelle has built a reputation for helping "unstick" executives and their teams so they can more quickly and effectively identify challenges, resolve issues of miscommunication or misalignment, and move forward with clear purpose.

Michelle honed her strategic expertise in the field of innovation and growth strategy consulting, where she utilized both quantitative and qualitative insights to help Fortune 100 companies identify growth opportunities, develop new products and services, and garner buy-in for those solutions across their organizations. As co-founder of boutique consultancy Tangible Labs, Michelle gained firsthand experience in developing and communicating a company's vision from inception, while in her tenure as AVP of Strategy and Head of Office for Idea Couture's New York office, Michelle oversaw hiring, staffing, culture-building, and business development functions while leading multi-disciplinary teams in project execution. Most recently, as founder of communications strategy consultancy Find the Words, Michelle has helped corporate executives, entrepreneurs, foundations, investment funds, and nonprofits harness the power of storytelling to influence, inform, inspire, and impress various stakeholder audiences.

A born & bred New Orleanian and graduate of the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania, Michelle now lives in Oakland with her husband and two children. It has been said that Michelle has unhealthy enthusiasm for board games, Broadway theater, and the Oxford comma.

"Michelle was able to understand and reconcile the differing needs of the multiple organizations in our Collaborative. She did her homework, managed the room with finesse, uncovered the heart of our issues, and framed a strategy that allowed us to move forward with confidence and clarity."

FOUNDER, BELLTOWER NEW ORLEANS

"Michelle was able to identify and crystalize the problem statement and sources of misalignment in a way that our team hadn't been able to do in nearly two years working together on this. She showed us that we were looking at the wrong thing. Now, we have the language to talk about our inconsistencies, we've identified the problems we need to solve, and we can finally stop spinning our wheels."
